

App. No. 10/065,940

In the Claims:

1-42 (cancelled)

43. (new) A retractable blade scraper comprising: (a) a body where said body being comprised of a hard plastic and a soft plastic ; and (b) a carriage; and (c) a door connected to the bottom with a hinging means; said door opening to a storage area contained within said body, where a blade is positioned at the front end of said body so that the scraping end of said blade edge is parallel to the adjacent edge of said body.

44. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 43 where said scraper has an ergonomic design.

45. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 43 where said carriage has two positions, storage and scraping/loading position.

46. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 43 where said storage area is attached to said body.

47. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 43 where said storage area is used to store used and unused blades.

48. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 43 where said top having a ribbed area and a safety wall.

49. (new) A retractable blade scraper comprising: (a) a body having top, bottom and base grip components where a blade is positioned at the front end of said body so that the scraping end of said blade edge is parallel to the adjacent edge of said body; (b) said top and bottom being comprised of a hard plastic; (c) said grip being comprised of a soft plastic; and (d) a door is connected to the bottom with a hinging means; said door opening to a storage area contained within said body.

50. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 49 where said top having a ribbed area and a safety wall.

51. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 49 where said scraper has an ergonomic design.

52. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 49 where said carriage has two positions, storage and scraping/loading position.

53. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 49 where said storage area is attached to said body.

54. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 49 where said storage area is used to store used and unused blades.